Dear Allen:

We have a letter from a young German, who is a German lawyer and who is now apparently completing his legal studies at Cornell, in which he says that he would like to have a year's experience in a New York office. His name is Bernhard von Falkenhausen and he says in his letter that you met his father in New York in the fall of 1949.

I am planning to see him and maybe will try to bring him in here. In view, however, of the fact that you apparently met his father, it would be helpful to me to know anything that you may know about him and his family and connections.

I would appreciate a line from you.

Sincerely yours,

George C. Sharp.
